The local government of Gujarat, a federal state in Western India, has announced a new initiative to incorporate laser dentistry into the dental curriculum of all governmental dental colleges. The move comes after a clinical guide for oral laser applications was released at the 5th National Conference on Oral Laser Applications held in Ahmedabad earlier this month.

According to Gujarat Health Minister Jaynarayan Vyas, the project will be supported by the International Society for Oral Laser Applications, an affiliate organisation of the International Society for Oral Laser Technologies (ISOLT) and the International Society for Oral Laser Technologies (ISOLT).
