Healthgrades: where prospective patients go to find a dentist in 2014

By Sesame Communications Staff

When consumers fire up their web browsers, the vast majority of them start at a search engine. According to research from Pew Internet, 93 percent of online activities begin with a search. Health is a popular topic: 72 percent of Internet users looked online for health information within the past year.

Today, the No. 1 source for new patients searching and scheduling appointments with health care providers in the U.S. is Healthgrades.

Each year, more than 225 million visitors use the www.healthgrades.com website to search, evaluate and connect with health care providers that best meet their treatment needs. Healthgrades visitors represent the ideal demographic for dentistry. They are overwhelmingly female (72 percent), highly educated (84 percent have some post-secondary education) and affluent (52 percent have annual household incomes greater than $75,000).

Healthgrades offers dental practices a large, highly focused audience of prospective patients. During the past 12 months, Healthgrades tracked more than 20 million searches for dental care providers. Most importantly, Healthgrades users don’t just search — they schedule appointments. More than half (54 percent) of Healthgrades visitors will schedule an appointment.

Any way you slice it, Healthgrades visitors are an ideal target audience for growth-minded dental care providers. So what should your practice do to harness this traffic and fill your schedule? Healthgrades has established a partnership with Sesame Communications, and dentists
