Dental appliance guidance

The General Dental Council has issued new guidance for all dental professionals involved in prescribing, manufacturing and fitting dental appliances.

The guidance, which complements the GDC’s Principles of Dental Team Working, is in three parts as follows:

- Registrants who make dental appliances
  - If you make a dental appliance, you must understand and comply with your legal responsibilities as “manufacturer” under the Medical Devices Directive. These are legal requirements rather than GDC rules and the GDC expects you to fulfill these responsibilities and will hold you accountable for doing so.

- Registrants who arrange for dental appliances to be made
  - If you arrange for dental appliances to be made in the UK, you are professionally responsible for issuing the prescription to and receiving the appliance from a UK-registered dental technician. If you prescribe a dental appliance to be made by a person in the UK who is not a registered dental technician you are liable to face a GDC fitness to practise inquiry. Equally, you are liable to face a GDC fitness to practise inquiry if you receive a dental appliance made in the UK by a person who is not a registered dental technician.

- Registrants who sub-contract or prescribe dental appliances to be made outside the UK
  - When making the decision to either sub-contract the manufacture of a dental appliance, or use a dental laboratory or agent which sources dental appliances, outside the UK, your choice not to use a UK-registered dental technician puts a particular responsibility on you.
  - You will be held professionally accountable for the safety and quality of the appliance. This is because you have chosen not to sub-contract or issue the prescription to a registered dental technician who would otherwise be accountable him or herself.
  - You take on the dental technician’s responsibilities for the appliance and the GDC will hold you accountable for your decision.
  - Further we expect you to have taken appropriate steps to discharge the extra responsibilities you choose to accept when you make this decision.

Dentist in the spotlight

A dentist has been accused of needlessly pulling a woman’s tooth out instead of treating her ulcerated gum.

Ian Bain, who works at the Gables Dental Practice in Prestatyn, denies the allegation that he failed to diagnose a patient’s toothache.

Now the General Dental Council is holding a hearing to investigate allegations that he failed to spot the woman had an ulcerated gum, and ended up pulling out her tooth.

The woman claims Bain treated her in a ‘dismissive, and mocking’ way when he saw her at the surgery between August 1, 2005, and April the next year.

Bain is also accused of failing to treat records of the patient’s appointment and not giving her painkillers to help with the toothache.

He denies misconduct and that his fitness to practise is impaired.
