Dr Harris Sidelsky
Harris is a registered specialist in prosthodontics. For many years he has been a sought after speaker on the lecture circuit. Until more recently he was the primary post graduate speaker at a leading London teaching hospital in clincial and didactic minimal invasion dentistry, cosmetic dentistry and adhesive dentistry. His 10 day course is now in its 20th year and is heavily oversubscribed. He has authored over 40 articles and he has considerable experience in London. His current main interest is minimal invasive dentistry and his lecturing style is known to be able to relate and communicate with the general practitioner. What he communicates is appropriate and applicable.
